FOUNDATION ANNOUNCES INITIAL 2003 TECHNOLOGY AWARDS

Beaumont, TX--The Beaumont Foundation of America (BFA), which grants state-of-the-art, wireless laptop computers and technology equipment to schools, communities and individuals, has announced initial awards for 21 states and the District of Columbia. Remaining states will be eligible in 2004 with additional funding for all states available in upcoming years.

The Foundation received 8,579 proposals from community and educational entities and thousands of applications from individuals. All submissions were reviewed and scored by a minimum of two professionals including BFA staff and external reviewers.

“We were extremely impressed with the quantity and quality of applications received,” said President and CEO Frank Newton, “and we are excited about our 2003 grantees, a group of extraordinary organizations, schools and individuals.”

BFA Board of Directors met June 10 and awarded more than 1,600 grants. Based on the volume of applications, the Board plans to reconvene in September, when additional awards will be considered from this year’s pool of submissions.

Last year the Foundation granted technology equipment to 127 schools and nonprofit organizations in six states during its initial year of operation. Information about the Foundation and its programs is available at www.bmtfoundation.com.
